

American Society for Cybernetics

The McCulloch Award of the American Society for Cybernetics is awarded to

Søren Brier

for his important contribution in founding and bringing to maturity the journal “Cybernetics and Human Knowing”

A singular achievement in the service of cybernetics, Søren Brier founded, in 1994, the journal “Cybernetics and Human Knowing”.

This journal has proved a bastion for second order cybernetics and has,
through the establishment, over a period of 14 years, of its high quality criteria and the increasing range of its authorship, become an important vehicle for the promotion and development of cybernetics.

Through his work in founding and nurturing Cybernetics and Human Knowing,
and the consistency and high demands of his editing, Søren Brier has earned the deep appreciation of the American Society for Cybernetics.
