

American Society for Cybernetics

The Warren McCulloch Award of the American Society for Cybernetics is awarded to

Randall Whitaker

for outstanding and profound lifelong contributions to the nurturing of cybernetics.

Randall Whitaker is a leading expert in the work of Maturana and Varela.

His careful and studious learning can be seen in the history of cybernetics that can be found on the ASC's website, a website that Whitaker largely built, extended,
wrote and maintained for many years.

His support of the Society as Vice President for Electronic Publishing cannot be exaggerated, and he continues to provide help in the electronic aspects of the society's working.

Whitaker is an important figure who brings a vast and deep knowledge of the field to others, always cloaked in modest discretion.

In his working life, he provides a better service to his colleagues through the use of his cybernetic understandings.

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Ranulph Glanville". The signature is written in a cursive, flowing style.

Ranulph Glanville
President of the American Society for Cybernetics 2014/08/08